

Jim Hinze

January 2 at 11:45pm

Here's a mini review for anyone interested. Last week Robert Kulp posted about a new CA glue he's selling, I asked a few questions and decided to give it a whirl. Here are my preliminary impressions (pics attached)..

First negative, I don't like non-aerosol activator...not sure why, I just don't. This came with traditional pump action... maybe it's because I have to work more 😊 ... this is the grand scheme of things, is a minor inconvenience.

I like the bottles... good and solid.

So I apply as follows, 5 coats thin, 5 medium, level sanding, then micro mesh then polish. I've done this regimen with 3 different vendors, so thought I'd do the same.

TO my amazement,by the time I got all 10 coats on, I didn't think I had half of them. Not that it went quick or anything, just that it wasn't caked on like some other manufactures. Before I did my level sanding, I had fears of sanding through the finish... they were unfounded.

Level sanded well, still worried about sanding through, again unfounded. I watched it polish up through the micro mesh, polished it, and couldn't believe my eyes...

better clarity than I've ever seen out of a finish. Also, accentuated the grain MUCH better than other CA finishes I've used... I've found my new brand of choice...

it's truly stunning...

Disclaimer: I purchased all the products myself, was given no gifts...this is my honest opinion.

Continued on page 2

 Like  Comment

You, Steve Kondo, Bill Crittenden and 24 others like this.

Robert Kulp Nice job on the pen. Glad you like the CA.

The pump accelerator is just finger physical fitness.

Like · Reply ·  2 · January 2 at 11:55pm

Ted Sachs FWIW I've had better luck with pump type accelerators than I've had with any of the aerosol types.

Like · Reply ·  3 · Yesterday at 12:04am

Jim Hinze I'm keeping an open mind.. Results re what counts , not the steps

Like · Reply · Yesterday at 12:32pm

Write a reply...

Dan Pompe This compared to BSI?

Like · Reply · Yesterday at 12:09am

Jim Hinze Stickfast, Starbond, and BSI yes

Like · Reply · Yesterday at 12:11am